observation session 4

Today there was one more person who was discussing with Aayash about their plan and written on the paper visible for every one on the floor. The letter shows the dancers what today's rehearsal is and they begin to rehearse that in their own pace.

However, what makes today's rehearsal look different is not the additional person it is the posters posted on the wall.

From my distant observation some of these posters are traditional clothes including jacket, trousers, ~~and~~ and shirts. There are also cakes, sunset, lamps in the dark, a person with rainy coat.

These posters reminded me of two things first is these hand made textiles in a museum in Dubai that I visited last year. on the other hand it also
